

Meals on Wheels adopts new name

Lancaster, Ohio - For over 50 years, Meals on Wheels of Fairfield County has provided services that ensure nutrition, health, connection, and independence for people ages 60 and older living in Fairfield County. While many community members are familiar with the meal delivery services, recent research indicated that others are not as familiar with the 20+ additional services offered to older adults by Meals on Wheels. To address the issue, the agency spent a year collecting data and evaluating feed-

Shop & Dine "Around The Lake" See page 4 back to create a simple name that would better reflect the organization's offerings. The process involved working with Krile Communications, conducting client surveys, obtaining community feedback, performing interviews with community leaders, and soliciting input from the board and staff. The information collected confirmed the limitations of the Meals on Wheels name and that the agency should consider expanding its name to indicate all that is offered.

TC Connect Home & Business Services Page 8 This month, the organization is announcing that The Senior Hub has been selected as the co-branded name to sit alongside the name Meals on Wheels Fairfield County.

"Like a hub of a wheel, The Senior Hub is at the center of the senior support system in Fairfield County," said Executive Director Anna Tobin. "We connect all of the services and supports available to older adults to keep them on a path of independence and well-being, while continuing to provide nourishment and fellowship."

Campbell's Countertops: Your local full-service kitchen and bath dealer

Campbell's Countertops has been serving central Ohio and the surrounding area for over 40 years. We are your local fullservice kitchen and bath dealer. Whether you are replacing a countertop, doing a complete remodel, or are building a new home, our staff is available to assist you with all the details, including design, color, and style selections.

If you are thinking about remodeling your bathroom, here are some things to consider that you may not have thought of.

1. This is your house, your bathroom, unless you are planning to sell within 2 to 5 years, you can do what You want with your design. Market trends change every few years, anyway.

2. The old rule that you must have a tub has gone by the wayside. With all those Baby Boomer knees and hips out there, it is much easier to walk into a shower than it is to lift those legs up over the edge of a tub, lower yourself down into the water, then raise yourself up out of the tub and step out. Besides, young people aren't taking the time to wait for a tub to fill with water, spend time soaking, rinse off and step out. They want to hop in a shower and hop back out.

3. Senior citizens aren't the only ones to have mobility issues, anyone at any age can have an accident, surgery, or any number of ailments that would necessitate needing some assistance, even if only temporarily. Adding grab bars to your design now will save you possible headaches later. Today's grabs bars are available in several finishes and more attractive styles than in the past. If you absolutely don't want them now, at least, make sure to have your contractor put blocking in for future use.

4. Storage is important. Adding a vanity linen cabinet and/or a water closet over the toilet is a great way to store the spare toilet paper, paper towels and tissues that you've been hoarding. Cabinets now come with more options for using that interior space as optimally as possible.

It's all in the details. 5. Toilet handles, toilet paper dispensers, towel bars, towel rings, and drain covers, now come in more finishes to match your faucets and cabinet hardware. Matching or almost matching bathroom accessories will help to pull your bathroom remodel all together.

We all spend quite a bit of time in our bathrooms, why not make it both functional and beautiful. Let Campbell's Countertops help you to do just that.

Best bang for your buck!

by Tyler Cassidy

Do you remember what it was like house hunting for your new home? Pulling up to house after house in search of the perfect layout, square footage, and amenities that would benefit you and your family? If your experience was anything like the one my wife and I had, you probably looked at many houses before finding one that truly felt like home.

I still remember pulling up to look at our home for the first time and thinking, "Hmm... it's nice definitely needs replaced." Even my wife commented that the door had a few dings on the exterior and didn't add much to the home's curb appeal.

Once we were actually inside the garage and saw that it was a non-insulated door, I knew replacing it would be inevitable. It wasn't that the garage door was cheap; it was old, worn, and not doing much to insulate the garage After relaying this itself. information to my wife, she immediately wanted to know the cost of replacing a garage door -our budget was pretty tight, and enough, but that garage door there were other pressing updates and issues that needed to be addressed with this home as well. This is when my knowledge of garage doors and ROI came into play.

ROI, also known as return on investment, is important to keep in mind when making updates to your home. With the trend of home improvement and house flipping television programs on the rise, many people believe that updating kitchens and bathrooms will get them the most bang for their buck. Unfortunately, if you look at the data www.remodeling.hw.net for the past three years, replacing your garage door actually has one of the highest ROI percentages of any home remodeling projects.

Remodeling.hw.net's 2019 Cost vs. Value report shows that while completing a major kitchen remodel recoups 62.0% of the cost and a midrange bathroom remodel in Columbus will recoup 62.4%, replacing your garage door has an 84.6% cost recoup. This means that while replacing your door can seem expensive, if you invest $2,000 in a new door, you will end up with approximately $1,692 back when you sell your home. Those are some pretty good margins, especially if you end up staying there for several years! Now factor in the energy efficiency an insulated door can bring to your home, and you will find yourself saving even more money long-term.

Going over the numbers with my wife helped her realize that while the initial cost of installing a new garage door can sometimes seem high, the long-term value a new door brings to a home is well worth it. Not only will your door be less likely to have problems, but you can give your home a custom look while adding curb appeal and overall resale value.

Thinking of expanding your existing home?

By Brian Chumley

One major factor to consider is the cost of moving versus the cost to stay. With the cost of homes for sale you may not be eager to move. Instead, you may consider expanding your existing home's first floor, finishing the lower level, creating an outdoor space, expanding out with an addition or building up to create a second floor.

Before you begin the designbuild process, you need to determine the rooms or type of renovation you need before you determine a budget for your design-build. The room's purpose will allow you to determine whether you need to renovate, build up or build out.

Whether you're creating more square footage, adding outdoor space or renovating existing rooms, the cost to build or renovate is currently lower than purchasing a new home. At Dyna Remodeling LLC your project is more than the materials used to build it, it's a commitment to your project. For this reason, you can rest assured that we have our pride and reputation built into every square inch. Contact us today for your free estimate! Dyna Remodeling LLC (614) 735-0024 dynaremodeling@hotmail.com Licensed-Bonded-Insured

Accurate offers state of the art drain cleaning service

Accurate Heating, Cooling & Plumbing is excited to offer extended drain cleaning services with our new Jetter Truck. This service has state of the art equipment to clear, repair and replace any drain issue. Our team, led by a veteran with 43 years in trade, comes highly the recommended for their knowledge, professionalism and care for our customers' property.

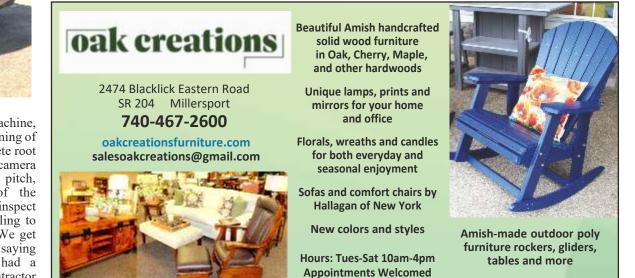

With the de-scaling machine, we can do wall to wall cleaning of the drain as well as complete root removal. With our drain camera we can pinpoint the pitch, placement and depth of the problem area. We visually inspect after our jetting or de-scaling to assure the drain is clear. We get feedback from customers saying all the time that they had a previous drain cleaning contractor out a week prior to our visit and it already backed up again. We ask if they were shown proof on a camera that their line is clear. The answer is always no because most companies do not have this kind of detailed equipment. This is why we can 100 percent back up our word that their drain is clear before we leave.

Visit our booth at the Home & HVAC and Plumbing services Outdoor Expo on Saturday, March 16 from 9:00 - 5:00 p.m. and Sunday, March 17 between noon and 3:00 p.m. to see pictures of the work this truck, the state of the art equipment, and our team has done with this Jetter service.

The Window Man looks forward to working with you on your next home project

As springtime in Ohio approaches, thoughts of home improvements enter the minds of many homeowners. If you noticed cold, drafty windows this winter, it may be time to install new, energy efficient windows. Not only will you notice a reduction in your heating and cooling bills, but your home will be more comfortable as well. Look for these features when choosing a replacement window and reputable installers:

• Vinyl windows won't peel or rot. Look for welded corners instead of edges that are screwed together.

• Multiple weather strip around each sash and frame

• Insulated frames and/or sashes • Insulated glass – look for the EPA's new "Most Efficient" rating and the window you are looking at is in the zone where you reside. Most companies offer different levels of glass insulation.

• A new window is only as good as the installation. The Window Man of Lancaster is proud and confident in our employees (not sub contractors), we have a trusted and vital crew, with many years of experience to solve any issue your house may have.

The Window Man of Lancaster also offers other services, including vinyl siding.

• We suggest insulated siding panels that will give your home added insulation

• Look for a higher "mil" thickness. Not only will this

Owners Brittany and Brian Metzler submitted

provide a sturdier panel, but gives a smoother look when installed on your home.

A new entry or storm door will spruce up the look of your home, while providing added security. Our representative can help you 'build' your door, allowing you to choose the style and features you want, according to your budget.

Kitchen and bathroom remodels are big this year. The Window Man of Lancaster has all the new wood, style and color samples for you to choose from. We offer full design services, custom made, all wood cabinets and custom fabricated countertops.

Stop in to our showroom at 721 Union St. (next to General Sherman Jr. High School) or call 740-654-9583 to schedule a free, no pressure appointment. We have been in business since 1978 with many satisfied customers. We look forward to working with you on your next home project.

Let the bees buzz

by Amy Carpenter, Ph.D.

Think back to your school days. What comes to your mind? Do you have good memories or memories that you would like to forget? For Tami McCandlish, her school memories are what fuels her to improve the lives of others.

In middle school, Tami thought she had found a best friend, something every girl dreams of. Her friend was the most popular girl in school and they became instant sidekicks. But after a while, Tami's friendship became more of a nightmare than a dream come true.

At recess, Tami and her friend use to hide behind the biggest tree on the playground and share secrets. These secrets began to branch out onto the playground and started twisting further from the truth. One day Tami confronted her friend about one of these twisted truths, and it caused a major dispute. This confrontation created a rivalry between them throughout school and created problems that would impact Tami the rest of her life.

Tami didn't know it at the time, but she had made friends with a MEAN GIRL (a phrase that didn't exist back then). The National Child Safety Council explains that mean girls deliberately hurt others through words and intimidation. It is a competition for popularity and status using manipulation and fear. The victim rarely knows why she is targeted. It could be because of her grades, fashion, or extracurricular interests. Many times, it is due to jealousy. Tami was an athlete, honor-roll student, and club leader, which made her a friend of many and an enemy to the mean girl group.

According to the National Child Safety Council, 3 out of 4 students report that they have been bullied at some time while they were in school. Bullies tend to fight or tease others, or put others down to make themselves feel better. A bully may scare or hurt others, make others feel uncomfortable, and trick others into doing what they want. Sometimes bullies even use their friends to do the bullying for them. Boys tend to use direct bullying, which is usually physical and is seen and felt right away. Girls tend to bully indirectly by excluding others.

The mean girl group targeted Tami's happiness and success since fifth grade. She dealt with the name-calling, gossip, and rumors until her senior year, when 8 years of bullying finally came to a head. Tami couldn't take it anymore and eventually she left school. The price of peace and happiness cost Tami her prom and her high school graduation... things every little girl dreams of.

Tami lost her sense of belonging, identity, and love for others. The lies she internalized from the bullies affected every relationship and how she interacted with others.

One day Tami found herself staring at a shotgun cabinet, when out of nowhere, she heard the words that would change her life forever.

To find out what words changed Tami's life forever, stay tuned to my upcoming story on "Around Towne With Amy" featured on You Tube, Spectrum 1021 and Facebook.

Our MS Warriors need a cure

MS AWARENESS MONTH

by DeAnne Beyer

Multiple Sclerosis (MS) is a highly unpredictable disease of the central nervous system. Its symptoms can range from cognitive impairment and vision issues to debilitating fatigue, loss of mobility and just about anything in be• Relapsing remitting is the most common type of MS in which people experience symptoms that flare up followed by periods of recovery

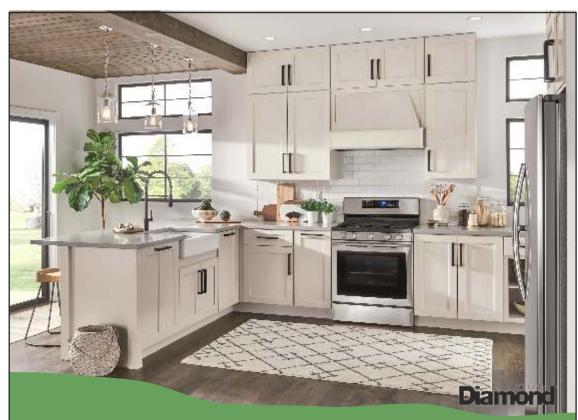

• Secondary progressive MS is a deterioration that occurs after years of flare ups resulting in some degree of permanent disability

• Primary progressive MS is a steady worsening of symptoms with no periods of recovery

Diagnosis of MS is generally based upon symptoms presented, medical history, a neurological examination and MRIs of the brain and spinal cord (to show areas of damage known as lesions). A spinal tap may also be performed to help confirm the diagnosis.

Some of the most common symptoms of MS include:

- Vision problems
- Extreme fatigue
- Bladder/bowel problems
- Gait problems

tween.

Think of Multiple Sclerosis as 'multiple scars' or lesions present throughout the brain, optic nerve and/or spinal cord. These lesions develop due to the body attacking its own myelin - the protective sheath that surrounds nerve fibers. Nerves are responsible for carrying messages from the brain throughout the body. When the myelin is damaged, the messages can become distorted or unable to pass through at all. For example, a person with MS may desire to move their leg, so their brain tries to send that message through the nervous system. If a lesion is present in that pathway of nerves and that message can't get through, the leg is unable to move.

MS tends to follow three main courses:

Balance problem

- Balance problems
- Numbness and weakness in one or more limbs
- Lack of coordination
- Tingling sensations
- Tremor
- Spasms

The fight for a cure for MS continues. Several medications are available for the relapsing remitting form of MS. These treatments may help reduce relapses and aim to slow the progression of the disease. At this time there is only one FDA-approved treatment for possibly slowing progression in the rarer primary progressive form of MS. More research is definitely needed to find a cure and help our MS Warriors live better lives.

LANCASTER, OHIO - Thanks to a recent donation from Community Heart Watch, the Perry County 911 Dispatch Center is now equipped with an Automatic External Defibrillator (AED) that will be accessible to the public 24 hours a day in the event that a cardiac arrest emergency occurs nearby.

The donation was made possible through a grant from the Robert E. Fellers and Leona L.

Fellers Foundation Trust The AED was presented to 911 Dispatch Director/Coordinator Sherry Emmert by Jim Mickey, Perry County Health Department Emergency Planner, and Ben Carpenter, president of the Perry County Board of Commissioners.

citizens to take action if they witness a cardiac arrest. "My term for this is 'Immediate Citizen Responders'," he said. "The overall goal is for citizens to assist victims until EMS, fire and law enforcement can arrive with advanced capabilities to help deliver more viable patients to our medical facilities for definitive treatment and recovery. This will increase the chance of someone surviving a medical emergency such as sudden cardiac arrest and resuming their lives with family friends and within our communities."

Carpenter said he is excited for Perry County to become more heart safe. "It is great to see the AED unit in place for emergency use," he said. "This continues our opportunities for Perry County to partner with Community Heart Watch and get additional lifesaving resources in our county." Emmert agreed. "The 911

Dispatch Center is always looking for more ways to serve our citizens in times of need," she said. "The continuing placement of AEDs throughout Perry County can only help us to provide additional resources and prompt care for the victim when there is a medical emergency."

AED accessibility is a goal of Community Heart Watch and the key to improving survival from cardiac arrest, which occurs when the heart suddenly stops beating. Without quick intervention, brain damage begins in four minutes and death occurs around 10 minutes. With an average EMS response of eight minutes or more, a victim's best chance of survival is if people at the scene start chest compressions immediately and use an AED while waiting for EMS to arrive.

Mickey, who is a member of Community Heart Watch for years, said the committee's mission is to provide tools such as AEDs and CPR training to prepare

Fairfield County ADAMH Board and OhioGuidestone Celebrate STARLight Center Ribbon Cutting

LANCASTER, Ohio – The Fairfield County Alcohol, Drug Addiction and Mental Health (ADAMH) Board and OhioGuidestone held an open house of the STARLight Center, lighting the journey to stabilization, treatment and recovery, on February 29, 2024. The STARLight Center fulfills a promise to the community to provide a safe, welcoming place where residents can receive immediate help for mental health and substance use crises. This is the first and only facility of its kind in Fairfield County.

Since its groundbreaking in May 2022, ADAMH has fervently prepared for the center's treatment services, housing up to 20 people seeking immediate support. The STARLight Center, located at 336 E. Locust Street in Lancaster, was formed as a response to the 2019 tax levy. Voters voiced a need for more accessible mental health and substance use care in Fairfield County.

"We're thrilled to see the STARLight Center come to fruition," said Marcy Fields, Executive Director of ADAMH. "It has been a collective effort to fulfill this community promise for a safe and stable center. I'm overwhelmingly appreciative of the support from so many in our community, and I'm eager to start helping those who need these services."

The STARLight Center will officially welcome patients beginning late spring. The providing agency, OhioGuidestone, is supplying 24/7 care to patients who have a three to five day stay for mental health conditions, and up to 30 days for those battling substance use.

"Today marks a new chapter in behavioral health care as STARlight becomes OhioGuidestone's first adult mental health crisis stabilization program in Central Ohio," said President and CEO of OhioGuidestone, Brant Russell. "Each of the beds here represents a life that will change for the better, and the hope that a brighter future is possible."

Amanda Wattenberg, Vice President of Regional Operations OhioGuidestone echoed these sentiments: "Whether it's outpatient care or residential treatment, OhioGuidestone's commitment to the community of Fairfield County is to provide a safe, compassionate and respectful haven to help adults through the most difficult times of their lives. The STARlight center will be a place of healing and new beginnings.'

(NewsUSA) - Despite increased interest rates and inventory challenges, you can still be a homeowner this year.

Many first-time homebuyers may not realize that there are many ways to make home ownership happen, and not all of them involve a 20% down payment.

The need to put down 20% of the cost of a home is a general misconception according to Freedom Mortgage, a residential mortgage lender with experience originating conventional, FHA and VA loans. They are an independent, non-bank, fullservice, residential lender whose mission is to expand opportunities first-time homebuyers, for especially military personnel and with low down consumers payments.

One secret to securing a successful loan is to work with a loan officer who is experienced in the wide range of available home loans, especially those backed by the U.S. government. That way, homebuyers are aware of all potential financing opportunities and companies who offer those options. A good loan officer will walk you through the process and find a loan that works for your budget. Remember—even if your credit history is less than stellar, or if your resources for a down payment are limited, owning a home is still within reach.

Government-insured loans for first-time homebuyers that don't require a 20% down payment include:

VA loans. If you are a veteran—either active military or retired—you may be eligible for a VA purchase loan through the federal government with no down payment.

FHA loans. A Federal Housing Administration (FHA) loan allows for lower rates, flexible credit terms, and low minimum down payments (approximately 3.5%). FHA loans are designed for individuals with lower credit scores (minimum 550) and can be used for refinancing, too.

USDA loans. United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) loans help people seeking to buy homes in rural (and some suburban) areas. USDA loans are not available everywhere, but they are an option in many states. Benefits include competitive interest rates and, in many cases, no down payments. USDA loans have no limits on the loan, and low mortgage guarantee fees. The minimum credit score is 620.

For homebuyers with good credit and finances, a conventional loan may be a good bet, because these loans allow you to finance a wider range of houses than other mortgage types do. Conventional loans also may allow you to borrow more money to finance a more expensive home.

The bottom line is that home ownership can—and should—be available to everyone. A lender such as Freedom Mortgage can help identify the best loan that lets you purchase a home sooner and start to build wealth through home equity.

Community Champions Help Raise Awareness for Meals on Wheels Fairfield County and the Needs of Fairfield County Seniors

During the month of March, Meals on Wheels programs across the country will come together to help raise awareness to senior isolation and hunger. During this campaign, Meals on Wheels will hold Community Champions Week March 18-22 and enlist the help of elected officials, business leaders, and community members to prepare food, deliver meals, speak out for seniors, and raise awareness for the power of Meals on Wheels program.

During these challenging times, now, more than ever, it is important to recognize the important and necessary services provided by Meals on Wheels to ensure health, connections, and independence for older adults living in Fairfield County. Community Champions are everyday people who volunteer to help deliver meals and assist the agency in fulfilling its mission of service to the seniors of Fairfield County. During the month of March, we extend the invitation to business leaders, local officials, and community leaders to join in raising awareness to the issues facing older adults and the solutions that make meaningful impact upon their lives. Meals on Wheels Fairfield County is one such solution. The annual March for Meals commemorates the historic day in March 1972 when President Nixon signed into law a measure that amended the Older Americans Act of 1965 and established a national nutrition program for seniors 60 years and older. This March, Meals on Wheels programs from Church Page.

across the country are joining forces to celebrate more than 50 years of success and garner the support needed to ensure these critical programs can continue to address food insecurity and malnutrition, combat social isolation, enable independence, and improve health for years to come.

"We commend all of our 2024 Community Champions for stepping up to ensure that Meals on Wheels is there for all of our senior neighbors in need," said Anna Tobin, Executive Director Meals on Wheels Fairfield County. "The demand for services is already great and will continue to grow as approximately 12,000 Americans are turning 60 every day. We must maintain and expand the programs that have helped so many get through this unprecedented time in our nation's history. We can't do it alone. It takes all of us to keep Meals on Wheels going.'

Elevate your gardening experience

In a short amount of time the raised beds were growing green beans and tomatoes (far left), lettuce mix (foreground), green peppers (middle) and zucchini and cucumber (rear). photo by DeAnne Beyer

by DeAnne Beyer

Even though the weather declares spring one day and winter the next, spring truly is on its way and will officially arrive on March 19. If in doubt, there is proof in the stores: a tantalizing selection of flower and vegetable seed packets, flower pots and potting mix all tempt us into dreaming of sunny skies, mild temperatures and lush, green new growth.

Whether you are a flower gardener, herb gardener, or vegetable gardener – or all three – raised garden beds are worth your consideration for the upcoming growing season. They are a great alternative to the traditional method of putting seeds directly into the ground.

The benefits of raised beds are numerous. The elevated beds warm up sooner in the spring and allow for earlier planting. If the native soil in your yard is heavy and holds water, raised beds allow for much better drainage. If weeds are your nemesis, as they are mine, raised beds make it much easier to spot and pull out those monsters before they get out of control. And finally, if you have difficulty stooping over to garden, the beds can be built waist high in order to garden while standing, or at a convenient height for those who garden from a wheelchair.

Wood is my favorite material for raised beds. My husband built several beds for me out of scrap lumber left over from another project. Some people like to use cedar, which is great since it is naturally rot-resistant, but it is a more costly option. I would not use treated lumber, however, because of concerns of chemicals leaching into the soil and being taken up by the plants. Cinder blocks are another option for building raised beds. I have even used a four-foot diameter plastic swimming pool to plant in. If you try this method, be sure to drill numerous holes in the bottom for proper drainage. The height of the bed can range anywhere from 6" up to 36" for ease of gardening without bending, as mentioned earlier. The length is totally up to you and is only limited by space and money. The width of the bed is what is most important. A 36" wide bed would generally allow for two rows of plants, a 48" bed for three rows. What determines the proper width for you is the distance that you can comfortably reach in to plant, weed and harvest without stepping on and compacting the soil within the bed.

I have always just placed my wood-framed beds directly on the ground and filled them with potting soil, compost and a bit of native soil. Some gardeners recommend that chicken wire or hardware cloth be placed on the ground before filling in with soil in order to prevent moles and other burrowing animals from entering the beds.

Once the beds are filled with material and raked smooth, they are ready for planting. Be sure to water thoroughly once the seeds are snuggly settled into their beds and enjoy the benefits of an elevated gardening experience!

Career Readiness Program to offer Career Expo

tO area high school students and local businesses

The Fairfield 33 Alliance's Career Readiness Program will host a Career Expo from 9:30 am to noon on March 21, 2024, at the Fairfield County Workforce Center, 4465 Coonpath Rd. NW, Carroll, OH 43112. The Expo will be open to 11th and 12th-grade students interested in pursuing a local career.

Students will have a chance to connect with local businesses and explore the career opportunities offered throughout Fairfield County. Businesses representing skilled trades, manufacturing, logistics, sales and service, and healthcare will be in attendance. Students do not need to have formal training or certifications in these fields. Many employers are willing to train employees in the careers represented. The Career Readiness Program, in partnership with local businesses and school districts, helps students earn an endorsement that proves they are ready to embark on a career. The goal of the program is to help students enter the workforce while helping businesses fill the gap on in-demand jobs locally.

"Many high school students don't realize the career opportunities available to them directly after graduation," said Karie Stone, Fairfield County Career Navigator. "Graduates from our programs are finding jobs with good wages that provide career growth. We prepare these students with the essential skills needed for these careers. The Expo is a great for way these young adults and employers to network with one another. We hope that students walk away with the best prospects for a future career and employers have amazing candidates for employment."

"As the Career Readiness Program continues to gain recognition around the state, it is becoming more apparent than ever that creating the opportunity for students to interact with local businesses while still completing their education provides them with a vision for their futures," said Rick Szabrak, Fairfield County Economic and Workforce Development Director. "This is an amazing opportunity for students to meet with more than 60 local employers to learn about jobs and companies they aren't familiar with. It's also a great way for employers to find their future employees and future leaders."

Businesses that are interested in the event can contact Bayley Fields at bayley.fields@fairfieldcountyo hio.gov. Priority will be given to Career Readiness business partners and businesses offering fulltime positions with good starting pay and an identified career path. Students can learn more at Fairfield33.com/Career-Readiness.
